

Rakesh

I am Rakesh Kumar and I am the Project Coordinator in the Delhi Sewing Centre. The young girls and ladies who come to the centre to learn sewing. In the beginning, they did not know anything about sewing but after completing the (six month) course, they are able to make clothes for themselves and families – salwar suits (women's outfit) - and their families are happy. Some even opened a boutique and others who are really skilled got involved in Restore India's 'Sahyog' project where we earlier made candles and chocolates, and now, the new things that is happening is that we are making (business) shirts. These ladies are now making the shirts, which we package properly for sale.
